

New from JRF department of outreach and congregational resources

Jewish Values, Money and Your Community

A curriculum for congregations

Providing a variety of Jewish values-based approaches to the use of money in your congregation, havurah or organization.

Facilitator and participant materials are integrated into each session and can be led by in-house facilitators, rabbis, or educators. One year? Six weeks? One day? It's all available!

$18 per copy ($15 for 10 or more copies) for non-JRF congregations

$15 per copy ($12 for 10 or more copies) for JRF Affiliates

Prices do not include shipping.

To order, call (877) JRF-PUBS (877 573-7827)
or visit <http://www.jrf.org/pub/cat-ordering.html>

Jewish Reconstructionist Federation
Beit Devora, 7804 Montgomery Avenue, #9, Elkins Park, PA 19027

Jewish Values, Money and Your Community

- 140 pages that stimulate discussion about issues surrounding money and values, both on a personal and communal level.
- Explore what Jewish tradition and contemporary Reconstructionist congregations have to offer in this area.
- Impart skills and basic information about a range of financial issues in communal life from a Jewish values-based perspective to help bring the Torah of Money home!

Rabbi Shawn Zevit,
Director of Outreach and External Affiliations

Shira Stutman,
Intern for Special Projects in Congregational Services

Session One:	Introduction—Personal attitudes towards money
Sessions Two & Three:	Texts from Tradition Jewish Values and Wisdom
Session Three:	Texts from Today- Money and Jewish Community
Sessions Four & Five:	Planning & Budgeting
Session Six to Eight:	Dues and Financial Policy
Session Nine to Eleven:	Capital Campaigns & Fundraising
Session Twelve:	Siyyum! Summary and Synthesis

Appendices include: Activities for children and teens, bibliography and other organizations doing money and values work.

Tzedakah texts and lessons woven into each session.

Feedback on the JRF “Money and Jewish Values” Resource Guide

“Amazing sharing of ideas and perspectives, along with teaching of theories, texts and resources. A great resource book of ‘best practices’ and building connections with other Reconstructionist communities.”

--Rabbi Fred Dobb, Adat Shalom, Bethesda, MD

“I have used the workbook repeatedly, sometimes to quote materials for presentations to the Havurah, sometimes for the newsletter, and especially for our fund-raising campaign, which so far has exceeded our expectations.” --Leah Kamionkowski, Past President, Reconstructionist Havurah of Cleveland

The 750 page Torah of Money workbook is available only to JRF affiliates for $54
Questions? Contact Rabbi Shawn Zevit at 215-782-8500 x24, SZevit@jrf.org